

Gabi Schibler

Trainer and Coach

“Organizational development, structuring and the implementation of projects from A to Z are my passion. My goal is to show participants tools that work and that you can use to achieve the goals in your own organization. Implementation in practice is of central importance to me. ”

Brief profile

Master of Science with additional training in project management, business administration, fundraising, organizational development and adult education. Profound knowledge and broad network of the sports and education systems in Switzerland on local, cantonal and national level. In addition to my work as a trainer and coach, management of various sports organizations, experience and transfer in organizational development of SME's and NPO's.

Key activities

The main topics are coaching, communication, personal development and training of managers and employees. Organizational development, the consulting and monitoring of organizational development and processes in small and medium-sized organizations. Project management processes from the idea, project phases to implementation. Competent, professional and multilingual in German, French and English.

Qualification and track record

Studies as gymnastics and sports teacher, Master of Science University of Bern, complementary studies ETH Zurich in business administration, sports management course Swiss Olympic and VMI, trainer education competitive sports junior Swiss Olympic, Certified Project manager VPMI.

Diverse professional experience as owner of a sports management company, managing director of sports and event organizations, head of competitive sports in a sports federation, head of youth services in an internationally oriented organization, project manager of a national education project to review quality, head of the sports office of a municipal administration.

It is a great pleasure for me to pass on the experience I have gained from my wide-ranging professional experience to managers and organizations.

Business languages

English, German, French

Industry expertise

Extensive cross-industry knowledge and experience